Denplan scoops 'Best Dental Benefits Provider' for the sixth consecutive year

Denplan, the UK's leading dental payment plan specialist is celebrating another successful award win, after scooping 'Best Dental Benefits Provider' for the sixth year in a row at the 2015 Health Insurance Awards.

Held on Thursday 15 October at London's Grosvenor House Hotel, the Health Insurance Awards, gathers together around 800 industry leaders in the health insurance and protection industry to recognise the achievements of exceptional individuals, providers and intermediaries across a range of categories.

At a glittering awards ceremony and gala dinner, the leading health insurance advisors and providers were treated to a champagne reception, three course meal and were entertained by broadcaster, writer and former MP and Government Whip Gyles Brandreth.

Head of Corporate at Denplan, Pam Whelan, said: "We're extremely proud to once again win the award for Best Dental Benefits Provider. We value the fact that the awards are won because of votes from intermediaries and we would like to thank everyone that voted again for us this year. During the last year Denplan has made further enhancements to our corporate dental plans with the launch of eldercare benefits and the enhancement to our online services system with the introduction of 'single sign on' for employees. Having won this award six times in a row, it's important we don't get complacent - we will continue working hard to develop our dental benefits proposition and to find innovative ways to support intermediaries and clients going forward."
